Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 3-6 and 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Claims 3 and 15 claim “an end of a hollow member being operatively connected to said air valve” and “wherein said hollow member (harness) is used as at least one spoke of said wheel portion.”. This claimed limitation is contradictory to the specification since the spoke is part of the wheel that connects to a nipple “48” and not the valve “47” as shown in Figures 1-9. Specifically, Figure 9 shows that the claimed “hollow member” of the only goes through part of a spoke and then the harness 83 extends out of the spoke and meets with the valve 47. Therefore, the hollow member is not the same as the claimed “at least one spoke of said wheel”, but is only “part of” the at least one spoke.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 7-9, 11, and 12 are allowed.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Cormier, Sr. (US Pat. 6,011,463) discloses a tire air pressure monitoring system including an air pressure sensing system 5 that includes a hose 30 that connects to a tire valve 20. The hose 30 supplies air pressure to the rim wheel transmitter 10, attached to the hub of the wheel. After the transmitter 10 determines that there is an abnormal amount of tire pressure detected, a signal will be transmitted from the transmitter 10 to a receiving unit 100. Cormier does not disclose the claimed pressure sensor mounted to the valve with a hollow member extending to a detecting and transmitting unit attached to the hub of the wheel. The sensor attached to the valve and the detecting and transmitting unit attached to the hub of the wheel allows for an increase in accuracy of detected air pressure as well as ensure that the warning device that does not largely affect the dynamic balancing of the wheel.

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 3-9, 11, 12, and 15-18 have been considered. but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
